REPORT

The International Certificate Course, part of the Cambridge English Upskill Courses, officially kicked off on the 17th of November 2022. Dr. S Chitrakala, the Principal Incharge of NWC Manjeri, led the inaugural ceremony, marking the beginning of an enriching learning journey. This course, meticulously conducted by Mr. Sernam Muhammed, a highly esteemed English faculty member at Amal College of Advanced Studies in Nilambur, is currently underway with the successful completion of six sessions.

Drawing the participation of 25 students, the program is structured to elevate participants' English language proficiency to meet international standards. The comprehensive curriculum spans various facets of the English language, delving into grammar intricacies, expanding vocabulary, refining pronunciation, and honing effective communication skills. The dedication of both Dr. S Chitrakala and Mr. Sernam Muhammed, combined with the active involvement of the students, contributes to the success and impact of this valuable upskilling initiative.

Programme Report

The inaugural ceremony of the English Association, "LITWIT 2023," held on January 20, 2023, at the college auditorium, was marked by an enlightening and inspiring lecture on "Caffeinated Books: A Multidisciplinary Thought on Space" by Mr. Sameer Mecheri, the founder of Book Farm, a teacher, and a writer.

The ceremony commenced with Mr. Sameer Mecheri inaugurating the session by reciting a poignant poem by Kishwar Naheed, titled "I am not that Woman." This powerful piece, directed towards the empowerment of women, set the tone for an intellectually stimulating event.

Ms. Amna Athimannil, Assistant Professor of English and the program coordinator, extended a warm welcome to the attendees, emphasizing the significance of the event in fostering a literary community within the college.

Dr. U. Saidalvi, the Principal of Noble Women's College, Manjeri, presided over the function, and the Head of the English Department addressed the gathering in the HOD's address, highlighting the importance of such literary initiatives in the academic environment.

The formal inaugural session concluded, paving the way for Sameer Mecheri's lecture on "Caffeinated Books: A Multidisciplinary Thought on Space." Mr. Mecheri, with his unique blend of literary expertise and practical insights, delivered a thought-provoking discourse on the concept of space. He not only explored the physical dimensions but delved into the emotional and intellectual aspects of creating and respecting spaces.

Mr. Mecheri's emphasis on the importance of respecting others' spaces and the need to create inclusive environments resonated with the students. His lecture encouraged them to contemplate the significance of space in their personal and professional lives.

Following the lecture, Sameer Mecheri recited additional poems, adding a poetic touch to the literary atmosphere of the event. The students were captivated by his eloquence and found the session both inspiring and engaging.
